SEOUL, Dec. 20.—(INS)—Some 20,000 troops of a rebuilt 200,000-man North Korean army unleashed a large-scale assault on South Korean forces today in the middle of the peninsula about ten miles below the 38th Parallel.

The Communists struck along a 30-mile front and provoked heavy fighting at points as close as 45 miles northeast of Seoul, the jittery Republic of Korea (ROK) capital.

Thus the protracted lull on the U. S. Eighth Army's front was shattered while far to the northeast, Chinese and Korean Reds continued to press in on the little Hungnam beachhead, despite enormous losses.

The 16-inch guns of the 45,000-ton battleship Missouri, the eight-inchers of American heavy cruisers, the smaller rifles of destroyers and waves of carrier planes blasted without letup at the enemy forces besieging Hungnam.

Their tons of shells, bombs and rockets made what an official bulletin described as "a death trap of the area surrounding the Hungnam defense perimeter."

As the conflict appeared to be entering a decisive phase, Gen. Douglas MacArthur clamped down a censorship of all Korean war news flowing through and from Japan.

Col. Marion P. Echols, public information chief for the United Nations supreme commander, announced late Wednesday that all news articles, broadcasts and photographs relating to Korean military operations must be submitted for clearance to a headquarters press advisory division.

Procedures to screen such material for clearance from the Korean fronts were being set up in Korea as a further safeguard for the security of the UN forces.

The sudden eruption of heavy battle on Korea's main front began just north of the South Korean junction city of Chunchon, ten miles below the 38th Parallel and 45 air miles northeast of Seoul.

There, units of the ROK Third Corps ran into a hornet's nest of regrouped North Korean Red troops when the South Koreans attempted to move into new positions.

Evidently, the South Koreans had come upon preparations for an immediate major enemy attack. The Red onslaught was launched at once and it quickly spread to embrace a front 30 miles wide.

No American troops were involved in the fighting around Chunchon. The only American action on the Eighth Army front Wednesday morning came when a strong U. S. patrol clashed with a North Korean force of undisclosed strength eight miles southeast of Yonchon.

The latter is seven miles above the 38th Parallel and 36 air miles north of Seoul.

INTERNATIONAL CONTROLS

One of the many agreements reached by Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman has evoked little comment, although it is far-reaching and to put it into effect will not be a simple matter.

The two heads of state recognized "the necessity of international action to assure that basic raw materials are distributed equitably in accordance with defense and essential civilian needs." A number of steps are necessary, however, before this can be done.

The nations of the North Atlantic Security Pact must agree on export controls so that raw materials needed in their mutual defense program will not be sold indiscriminately. Each participating nation must set up production controls so these materials will not be wasted on non-essentials.

Thus free international trade cannot go forward even on the limited scale of the postwar period. The free play of economic forces, which is normally desirable as the best means of regulating demand and supply, will be discarded. Competition for raw materials, between nations, will be controlled as will competition within a country where the need to rearm creates an inflationary situation.

Americans would prefer to avoid international economic controls, just as they would rather not have domestic controls. But the mistakes of those who aided in building up the Russian menace have created a dangerous situation, and their effects will be far-reaching.

HISS NEARER JAIL

The New York Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld the fairness and legality of the trial of Alger Hiss. The eminence of the judges who wrote the unanimous opinion leaves little doubt that the United States Supreme Court would rule likewise.

Hiss will almost certainly serve the prescribed term of his five-year sentence, technically for perjury, actually for betraying his government's trust in the interest of a foreign power.

This is the indicated outcome of one of the most avidly followed trials in American history, in which the defendant had the support of Supreme Court justices, secretaries of state, the governor of Illinois and—at least by inference—of the President of the United States.

The Hiss case undoubtedly contributed heavily to the decline of public confidence in the administration's Far Eastern policy.

The worst blunder of this policy, from which many of the nation's present troubles—and casualties—stem, was to give Russia concessions at China's expense without the consent or even the knowledge of the Chinese Nationalist government.

Alger Hiss was a member of the State Department delegation that accompanied President Roosevelt to Yalta. Since he once was (and may still be) a communist, people are naturally asking what influence he exercised on those fatal concessions.

Socialism By Water is insufficient to meet the rate of use to which the public is accustomed.

What the report proposes is that Congress pass a national water code, the effect of which would be to strip control of water supply from the smaller units of government and the private interests which now are responsible, and turn the whole matter over to Federal bureaucrats.

Doubtless there will be just the same screams of indignant protest that this assertion is biased and unfounded as greeted the assertion every time it has been made during the last five years that President Truman's health insurance plan is socialized medicine in disguise.

These two proposed one-way, one-fare excursions into socialism have much in common. Both deal with vital commodities—health, in the one instance; water in the other. Once either field of activity is taken over by the Federal government, its return to private enterprise, or distribution of the authority so that home rule principles may be applied, both become virtually impossible.

The best proof that nationalization of the country's water supply really is the objective of the policy recommendations lies in the emphasis which the report puts on the various river-basin "authorities" already created or being advocated by the Truman Administration.

These now are revealed as having been dress rehearsals for the big show, which would consist of taking over all water—in the air, on the ground, under the surface. And the extra-legal, super-legal touches which have made these river-basin authorities such a thorn in the flesh of free government would be sufficient, in the case of the over-all plan, to crush Constitutional principles out of existence and leave nothing but socialism and dictatorship.

The great argument on behalf of the scheme will be, no doubt, the assertion that the plan would "simplify" the water problem.

This calls to mind a remark made by a man best known for his activities in the field of medicine, although he contributed greatly to the various political enterprises having to do with the founding of this nation. This is Dr. Benjamin Rush, eminent physician, signer of the Declaration of Independence, active in a host of fields connected with government and education—and incidentally a man who gave Bucks County a most important boost in its early days by pointing out the medicinal value of the water from the wells and springs near Bristol.

Writing to Anthony Wayne in 1776 in connection with a new Pennsylvania Constitution adopted that year, Dr. Rush made the following profound observation:

"All governments are dangerous in proportion as they approach to simplicity."

Those words are just as true today. The comment is one which every American would do well to remember, every time a New Dealer produces another of these schemes whereby the people of this nation are invited to surrender their essential liberty in order to permit their national government to "simplify" something or other.

to eliminate the Burgess' exclusive law enforcement powers.

This seemed to be out of line with the Flood's interpretation of the ordinance of 1861. He noted also that Matthews had moved out of New Hope last month and technically had quit the Council.

The Council resolution directed Secretary Watson Janney to communicate with a municipal advisory service of the University of Pennsylvania for an interpretation of the police code.

behalf before being appointed, there would have been no quorum.

Elimination of Taylor would have left only Gene D. Smith, Secretary of the Commonwealth, and William S. Livengood, Jr., Secretary of Internal Affairs.

By the time the board meets again Gov.-elect John S. Fine will have appointed a new cabinet, and there will be new faces on the pardon board. Only Livengood is certain of reappointment and therefore of continued membership on the board.

Students of Penn State Come From Wide Area

STATE COLLEGE, Dec. 20—Students at the Pennsylvania State College this semester come from every county in Pennsylvania and from 44 of the 48 states, a study completed by Dr. C. O. Williams, acting dean of admissions, reveals. Only the states of Arizona, Louisiana, Nevada, and Wyoming are not represented among the 11,132 students on the campus, but there are 53 students from foreign countries enrolled.

Centre county, where Penn State is located, tops the list for counties, while Allegheny county with 953 students and Philadelphia with 746 students, rank second and third. There are 1197 students listing Centre county as their home.

Largest out-of-state group comes from New York which has 179 students enrolled at Penn State while New Jersey has 125 students. Out-of-state enrollment at Penn State has been limited by the College which designates the number of non-Pennsylvania students that may be admitted each year.

The completion of new residence halls and other facilities, which has made it possible for Penn State to return freshmen to the campus this year after an absence of five years, will also make possible a slight increase in the percentage of out-of-state students who will be admitted for the Spring semester, beginning in February, and the Fall semester next September, Dr. Williams explains.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA---

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

Bristol Township
Maple Shade

The halls of Maple Shade School have again taken on their usual festive attire, thanks to the untiring efforts of the custodian, George Mohr. He was assisted by his brother, Edward Mohr, Mrs. George Mohr, and neighbors, Mrs. Tier, Mrs. Grooms, Mrs. Baldwin, and Mrs. Auty.

A large revolving tree, a gift of Moran's Store in West Bristol, has been beautifully decorated. A Santa Claus sleigh and eight reindeer, standing about four feet tall, also designed by George Mohr, add to the delight of the children of our school. Each classroom doorway has also been decorated and each individual room, too, has its own particular tree, and decorations that the children have made.

On Friday, December 22, the children will exchange gifts and Santa Claus will pass out treats to all.

With all our trimmings, carol singing, and excitement, we are well on our way toward Christmas!

Today, the teachers of Maple Shade School entertained at a luncheon served in the school at 12:30 p. m. Invited guests were Mrs. Dorothy McCollom, Henry Morgan, Mrs. Erna McKevitt, and George Mohr.

The Christmas play of the first and second grade of Miss Praul's room was given on Monday for the parents. It will be given again tomorrow for the Maple Shade students. All members of the class are included in the play. The characters are as follows: The Mother, Nancy Rodwick; the Father, Billy Pughia; the Son, Johnny Long; the Daughter, Elaine Ernst; the Sugar Plum Fairies, Carol Roberts, queen; Doris Wood, Susie Wilson, Susie Wallace, Sharon Kelly, Pattie Hearn, Carole Thomas, Yvonne Barnes, Ida Williams, and Rena Brodbeck; Santa is played by Skipper Hamilton; the toys—soldiers, Arthur Pughia, Roy Lee Bradley; the dolls, Carole Thomas, Carol Roberts; the Jack-in-the-Box, Joseph Gallagher, Albert Saul; the reindeer—Rudolph, George Shetzline, Bobby Minnickback, Frank Wire, Bob Barron, James Coyle, Bob Wood, Bob Fisher, Ray Keckler, John Maurer; the bells, John Ciesielski.

Kindergarten Building

The room mothers of the Kindergarten building have planned a Christmas party for the children in the school. They have candy canes and home-made cookies for the party. To add to the children's delight, they bought a Christmas tree and gaily decorated it.

Community Building

The first, second and third grade pupils of the Community Building are giving two plays on Thursday morning, December 21, at 10:30 a. m. The names of the plays are: "The Boy Who Didn't Believe in Christmas" and "Santa Visits Mother Goose." Children from all three grades will participate in these plays.

Edgely Intermediate

The Christmas program in Mrs. Ellis' room will be held at 11 a. m., Friday, Dec. 22. The program will include Christmas music, recitations, and two plays. One play, "Christmas Time in Mexico," is an affective play since it includes many singable songs. The other play is an original one written by Barbara Lieberman called "Christmas in Many Lands," which tells of the many different ways Christmas is celebrated in other countries. An original animated recitation called "Santa's Christmas Reindeer" will be given by Frank Felleman. The Christmas party will be held at one p. m., Friday afternoon.

Newtown WCTU Hears Of Work Among Service Men

NEWTOWN, Dec. 20.—The Dec. 14th meeting of W. C. T. U. held at the home of the president, Mrs. LeRoy Nixon, centered on the Christmas season. Many recordings of carols were enjoyed. The Rev. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Carr of the Methodist Church, conducted a devotional period of scripture, prayer, poems and stories, all bearing on the Messiah's coming.

Two gifts were given—four dollars to the work among soldiers and sailors, which work is still carried on by the W. C. T. U., although the director of that work, "Mother Moore," has been hospitalized well over a year. The second gift of two dollars was made to the Allied Youth Council Rock along with three publications, "Alcohol and Accidents," "Alcohol Talks to Youth," and "It's Smart Not to Drink."

Miss Marion Whitworth, chairman of the Allied Youth Post, here, gave a short talk telling of the program which the 59 members plan to spread the belief in total abstinence—coupled with wholesome merry recreation projects. She told of seven members of their post having attended the National Assembly of Posts, held at Buck Hill Falls Inn, where alcoholic drinks are never served. The group from Newtown was made up of four girls, Vivian Miller, Gertrude Hauler, Sara Ann Forsyth and the speaker, and of three boys, Charles Hauler, Donald Warrick and Peter Solis. Mrs. Nixon had accompanied the group.

Mrs. Nixon further spoke on a New Crusade fund, which Pennsylvania W. C. T. U. is now launching. It is hoped that by 1952 at latest a sum equal to $250 per member will have been raised by the various locals for the extension of temperance activities in state and national avenues.

The next meeting, Jan. 11th, will be at the home of Mrs. H. Griffin Miller at which time all members are asked to bring clippings touching on the "liquor problem and the courts" which they have noted in

TWO COURT TILTS BOOKED FOR TONIGHT

Two games will be played tonight on the Rohn and Haas court as the Bristol Basketball League continues its schedule. In the opening contest, starting at 7:30 o'clock, the Cornwells Boys' Club will meet the Profy team while in the second tilt the Fifth Ward Sporting Club meets the Hibernians.

The Cornwells team is a new entry in the loop and most of the players are graduates of Bensalem Township high school. The team played in the Diastion Recreation League last season and has such players as Gene Hansen, Reggie Samero, Harry Kisters, Bill Curran, Bill Butz, Pete Bound, Tom Farenio, and Jack Copeland.

The Profy team is practically the same that carried it to the playoffs of last season.

Fifth Ward will attempt to hand the Hibs their second loss of the season. The Hibs lost to Luciano Brothers on Sunday but Manager Brock Harkins is determined that his boys will break into the win column.

The Warders have a young team which made a fine showing last season. Its starting lineup will most likely be: Forwards, Francis Costantino and Fiore Favoroso; center, Nick Lomma; guards, Vic Canti and Joe Potena.

There will be a lull in the schedule after tonight, the next games being scheduled for Wednesday, December 27th.

GIRLS GAME CANCELLED

It was announced last night that the Bristol high girls game with the Alumnae, scheduled for tomorrow night, has been called off. The game will be played in January.

BENSALEM SCORES 2-POINT WIN OVER SOUTHAMPTON

SOUTHAMPTON, Dec. 20.—Bensalem Township high scored a close 41-39 win over Southampton high here last night.

"Al" Bader's shooting in the final quarter gave the Owls the victory. His total for the night was 19 points, four more than his mate, Bob Whitfield.

The Bensalem team was trailing, 31-29, at the start of the last quarter. Southampton increased this edge slightly but towards the end of the contest Coach "Johnny" Messinger's boys came up fast to wrap up the tilt.

Danny Heger, Don Blanks and "Sonny" Peak were outstanding for the losing team. Heger had ten points, as did Blanks. Peak scored eight points. Hager for Southampton and Walt Smith for the Owls controlled the boards during the game.

In the junior varsity game, Southampton was victorious by a 46-28 count. The junior greyhounds had a good second half, scoring 22 points, while holding Bensalem to ten.
